

Dear PakDone community,

Greetings from PakDone team! We hope this message finds you in good health and spirits. As always, we want to extend our gratitude to all of our supporters for your continued commitment in sustainability. We would like to take this opportunity to share some updates about our work in sustainable waste management and our ongoing efforts to promote sustainability in our community. 2022 has been the year of new beginnings for PakDone.

We had launched 2 new products last year and reestablished sustainable home remodeling.

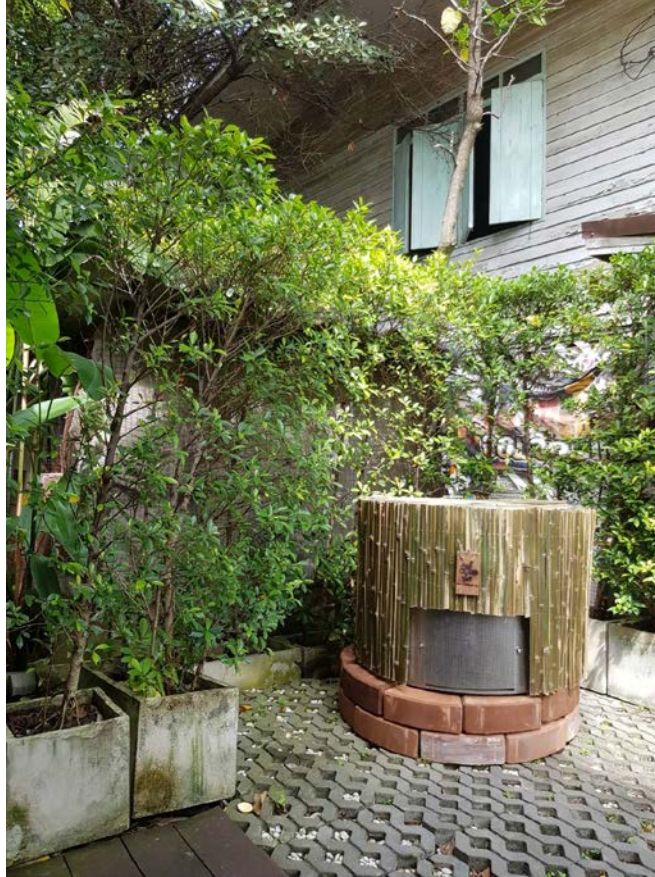

The feedback from the community helps us improve and develop new products that would facilitate community in alignment with nature.

“PunPlouk” is the fruit of our customers’ feedback of not knowing what to do with the compost they created from food waste. This solar-powered self watering, self fertilizing vertical garden and compost bin would facilitate busy city dwellers who has little time to care for plants and limited space to grow greens.

The giant “Punpuii”

We had hoped that when home owners learn how to compost and realize how easy, beneficial and good for the people and the environment it can be, they will start escalate this activity to their organization, their community, their business. And indeed that is what happening. To cater that development, we had to come up with the larger size compost bin that can manage larger amount of food waste daily, while still maintain the natural aspect of composting

Here is our giant bin being used in one of the restaurants in the heart of the city of Bangkok

Last but not least, we reestablished the remodeling construction of Baan Tam-Na Sustainable home yet again with the help from so many parties, one being Journeyman International on the design. The home will serve to inspire people in the city that living closer and tender to nature is possible and comfortable. Currently it is in the process of construction and expected to be done in late April 2023.

We hope our work will continue to inspire you and the communities and would like to thank you once again for your continued support that give us strength and energy to improve our work to better serve the need of the environment and society.

Best regards,

Manita Vivatsethachai
